

Triple Wing Caddis

Rev 20131202

Materials Needed:

Hook: Long shank dry fly hook.

Thread: 8/0 or 6/0 Tan

Body: Olive with antron

Wing: Fine deer or elk hair

Hackle: Ginger or to match local bugs

Start your thread, and wind back well onto the bend of the hook. Begin dubbing the body (tapered from fine to thick) ending just above the hook point.

Cut, and stack a fine bunch of deer hair (or elk) and tie in as shown. Trim the butt ends of the hair, and make several tight wraps of thread to secure it.

Continue dubbing to about the mid-point of the hook's shank, and tie in a hair wing the same way you did in step above.

Make a few light wraps of dubbing, and tie in your hackle as shown.

Complete the dubbing as shown.

Wind your hackle forward, stopping about 1/16" behind the eye of the hook. Tie off, and trim the remaining, unused portion of the hackle.

Prepare, and tie in your third and last wing as shown. Pull the butt ends of the hair back, and make several tight wraps of thread in front of the tie in point. This keeps the cut ends of the hair away from the eye of the hook.

Trim the butt ends of the hair.

Whip finish behind eye of hook.
