

6/07

This pattern was developed to imitate the Damselfly Nymph prevalent at Hume Lake and may be tied tan, green, or golden olive to match the hatch.

Materials

Hook: Daiichi 1270 sizes 8-12
 Thread: Black 6/0 or color to match
 Eyes: Monofilament (molded)
 Abdomen: Paxton's Buggy Nymph (Tan Damsel) or equiv.
 Thorax: Tan hares mask
 Legs: Hen back feather (tanish)
 Wing Case: Strip of Thin Skin or equiv.
 Gills: Emu quills (tan or gray)

RIB DUAL GOLD WIRE (small)

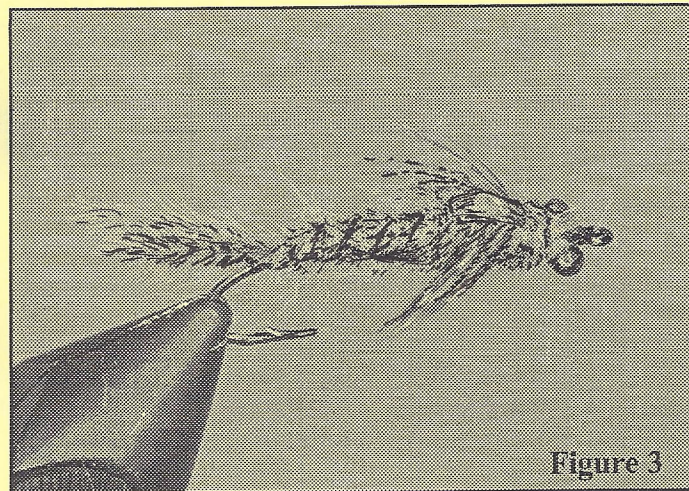

Figure 3

Tying Sequence

Figure 1

- Attach the barbell eyes behind the eye of the hook using figure eight wraps then apply instant glue.
- Spiral the thread to the bend of the hook.
- Tie in three Emu barbs for gills.
- Tie in a 6" piece of size A thread for ribbing.

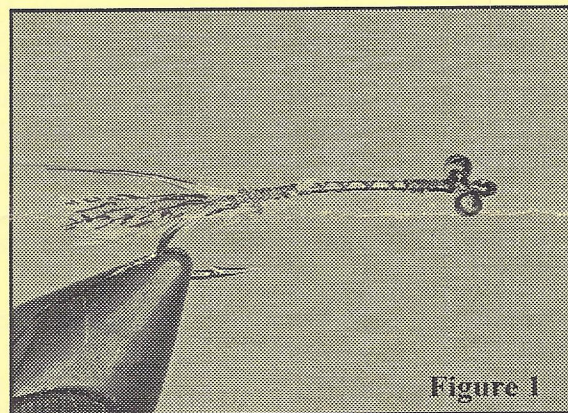

Figure 1

Figure 2

- Construct a dubbing rope of "Buggy Nymph" and wrap it forward to form the abdomen ending just past the midpoint of the hook shank.
- Spiral the ribbing forward and secure.
- Attach a 3/16" wide piece of Thin Skin for the wing case and one hen back feather for legs.
- Form a short robust thorax by dubbing tan Hares Mask.

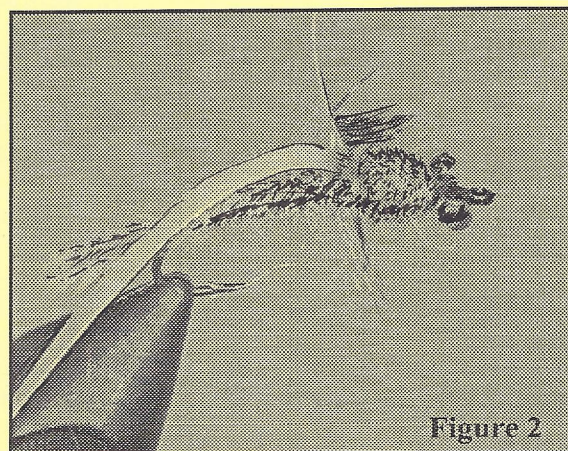

Figure 2

Figure 3

- Pull first the hen feather then the Thin Skin over the thorax and secure back of the eyes to form the legs and wing case.
- Build a head with dubbed Hares Mask.
- Whip finish and apply head cement.